13 U. S. Airmen Sentenced As Spies By Reds

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Thirteen Americans who dropped out of sight on aerial missions against the Communists in the Korean War were sentenced by a Red Chinese military court today to prison terms ranging up to life on spy charges, the Peiping radio announced.

Nine Chinese, called "former officers of the Chiang Kai-shek gang," also were sentenced—four to death, four to life imprisonment and one to 15 years—as American spies in the same case on a charge of jeopardizing Red China's security.

(The U. S. State Department quickly ordered its consul general in Switzerland—only point of diplomatic contact between the United States and Red China—to lodge "the strongest possible protest" against the sentences. A spokesman in Washington said the Communist charges were "trumped up" and the Defense Department issued a statement saying the Red accusations were "utterly false.")

(Contact with Peiping was set up in Geneva during the Far East conference last spring.)

Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., of Silver Spring, Md., was the highest ranking of the prisoners listed in broadcasts by the mouthpiece of Mao Tse-tung's Red government. The commander of a B29 shot down Jan. 12, 1953, he drew 10 years.

The second in command of the B29, Maj. William H. Baumer, 32, of Lewisburg, Pa., was sentenced to eight years. And nine others of the crew—Peiping said three died in the 1953 crash—were given terms ranging from four to six years.

Heavier sentences fell on two young New Englanders who the Chinese declared were captured Nov. 29, 1952, while dropping supplies to "American espionage agents in Northeast China." John Thomas Downey, 24, of New Britain, Conn., a cousin of the nationally-known singer Morton Downey, was condemned to life imprisonment, the Peiping account said, and Richard George Fecteau, 27, of Lynn, Mass., a former Boston University football player, got 20 years.

Downey and Fecteau were described as "special agents of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency," assigned to train and equip Chinese agents recruited by the Free China movement, which the Peiping radio termed a U. S. espionage organization based in Hong Kong.

A broadcast by the Peiping radio heard in San Francisco said Arnold admitted his air wing served CIA on such missions as "airdropping special agents, resupplying and maintaining liaison with and evaluating special agents on the ground." The broadcast said Baumer admitted making "many" flights over Red China for "Reconnaissance on our national defense works."

The roll of their men: Capt. Eugene John Vaadi, Clayton, N. Y., six years; Capt. Elmer Fred Llewellyn, Missoula, Mont., five years; Lt. Wallace L. Brown, Banks, Ala., five years; Lt. John Woodrow Buck, Armathwaite, Tenn., four years; Sgt. Howard William Brown, St. Paul, Minn., four years; Airmen Steve Edward Kiba Jr., Akron, Ohio, four years; Airmen Harry Martin Benjamin Jr., Worthington, Minn., four years; Airmen John Walker Thompson, Orange, Va., four years; Airmen Daniel C. Schmidt, Portland, Ore., four years.

President Acts In Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower today created an emergency board to investigate a strike-threatening labor dispute between most of the railroads and the railway conductors and brakemen.

The White House order forestalls any strike for the next 60 days. The President said the dispute, chiefly involving wages, "threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service."

Russia Needs Watching, Ike Tells Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that while Russia is using a different line in talk of peaceful co-existence it must be watched very closely if this signifies an attempt to lull America into complacency.

Eisenhower said there is nothing to indicate a fundamental change in Soviet attitude, and it would be the greatest error we could make to lose sight of Russia's basic objective of world revolution and the dominance of a Communist, centrally controlled, world state.

He assured his news conference there is no tendency on the part of himself or Secretary of State Dulles to take anything for granted with respect to Soviet talk of peaceful co-existence.

At the same time he repeated something he has said many times—that whenever there is reason to believe anyone wants to talk earnestly or sincerely about peace, we will talk to them.

But the chief executive ruled out any Big Four conference, such as has been suggested for next May by Premier Mendes-France of France, until:

1. The Paris agreements for bringing a rearmament Western Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are signed.
2. Such a conference offers a promise of real fruitfulness.
3. There is time to prepare for a conference.

Vishinsky's Body Flown To Moscow

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—More than 2,000 New Yorkers and scores of diplomats watched the body of Andrei Y. Vishinsky today before the start of his last journey home to Moscow tonight and a hero's funeral.

Once an obscure diplomat and later the chief prosecutor of a Stalin blood purge, Vishinsky in death was surrounded by a pomp more often seen at the bier of royalty rather than of a professed proletarian.

In an atmosphere of quiet splendor, the body of the Soviet Union's chief delegate to the United Nations lay in state before mournful Russians, respectful diplomats and the curious stares of New York's public.

The body then was taken to Idlewild airport and placed aboard a four-engine Stratocruiser chartered by the Russians for about $17,000 to take it to Paris—first leg of the trip to Moscow.

There was a solemn ceremony at the airport in which about 200 U. N. representatives took part. Accompanying the body was Vishinsky's widow, Mrs. Kapitolina Vishinsky, and their daughter, Zinaida.

Mercantile Tax Opposed By Leader

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23 (AP)—Gov. Elect George M. Leader questioned today whether a state mercantile tax should be adopted to close an estimated 250 million gap in the Commonwealth's 1955-57 budget.

Repeating previous opposition either to a sales or flat income levies, Leader told reporters that the state probably should not get into a mercantile tax since that type of levy already is in effect in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The young, incoming governor in his first news conference since his election Nov. 2 also said he is concentrating his immediate efforts on seeking a secretary of commerce.

On the mercantile tax, Leader told reporters: "I question whether the state should get into that area. The cities and boroughs seem to have gotten into that type of tax 'first-est with the mostest'."

The mercantile tax in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia falls upon wholesalers and retailers and is based on the gross receipts collected. Some tax experts regard the mercantile tax as a disguised sales tax.

Leader said he is accepting for the moment Gov. John S. Fine's estimate that the next Legislature will have to raise 350 million dollars in new taxes if the present one per cent sales tax is dropped on Aug. 31. He promised in his campaign to let it die then.

The governor-elect said he already has put the Pennsylvania Economy League to work on a complete study of the Commonwealth's tax picture. The League is a non-partisan organization which makes a continuing study of governmental finances, both at the state and local level.

In addition independent tax experts also will be asked to search for an answer to the Commonwealth's financial problems, Leader said.

Leader talked to reporters after a conference with Fine on problems of changing administrations. "We had a very pleasant conference," Fine said afterward. "I think the governor-elect was pleased with the developments of the conference. I didn't make any recommendations. I felt I ought not to do that."

Immediately after talking to Leader, Fine issued a special notice to all department heads calling for their cooperation in meeting Leader's requests "as to your duties and the conduct of your offices."

New Aid Program Considered For Non-Red Asia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Administration officials are reported to be considering a big new foreign economic program which may lead to the investment of billions of dollars in under-developed countries of the world, notably in non-Communist Asia.

The project is regarded here as activating, in effect, a new front in the struggle with the Communist powers for lands threatened by subversion and political aggression.

Some basic recommendations for operations in the new field may come before Christmas from Joseph M. Dodge, former budget director, Detroit banker and government adviser on various economic and financial problems over many years.

Russia Joins In Approving Ike's A-Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—The Western powers and Russia joined today with all U. N. members in a rare unanimous vote approving President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace plan.

The action took place in the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee which adopted a resolution endorsing negotiations for an international atomic agency to supervise the program and for an international scientific conference on the atom to be held next summer, probably in Geneva.

After eight years of dreary stalemate on major issues, it was the second time in three weeks the West and the Soviet Union had acted together on a major subject. On Nov. 4, the Assembly by unanimous vote instructed the U. N. Disarmament Commission to resume talks on limitation of armaments and on prohibiting atomic weapons. Those talks will begin in January.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief American delegate, who acted as spokesman for the seven powers sponsoring the approved resolution during delicate and secret talks with the late Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, hailed the occasion as a "historic moment." He said it promised to bring "enormous good to mankind."

Expert Tells Of Finding Fingerprint

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23 (AP)—The only fingerprint on Marilyn Sheppard's death bed, a police expert said today, was a thumb print of Dr. Samuel Sheppard. He is on trial for his life for his wife's murder.

The state drew the testimony from Jerome Poelking. It was passed on to Sheppard's first degree murder jury without any attempt to evaluating its significance.

Poelking, a fingerprint expert for the Cleveland police, said he found the thumb print on the headboard of Marilyn's twin bed last July 23—18 days after her July 4 slaying in the same bed. The home had been under police guard since the murder and Sheppard had not visited it except in the company of investigators.

"I found the left thumb of Sam Sheppard was identical with the latent print I found on the headboard," Poelking testified.

Commission Will Order Engineering Report As First Step In Parkway

FIRST MOVE OF THE Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway Commission will be to have engineers prepare a "feasibility report" on the proposed multi-million dollar scenic route.

That was the information contained in a statement by R. LeRoy Dengler, Mount Pocono, whose confirmation as a member of the three-man commission is expected today. Other members are Stroudsburg banker Frank Michaels, and Secretary of Highways E. L. Schmidt. Confirmation is also expected today on Michaels' appointment.

Said Dengler, in reviewing the background of the parkway:

"Although an Act of the General Assembly creating the Pennsylvania Parkway Commission was passed and became a law in 1941, due to wars all over the world and later in Korea, the two members of the Commission were never appointed."

"The object of the commission is to construct in northeastern Pennsylvania, along the Rim of the Pocono Mountains, a scenic road or parkway approximately 75 miles in length."

"By a later amendment during the Duff administration the road is to be known as 'Pocono Mountain Memorial Parkway' and shall be dedicated as a memorial to the sons and daughters of Pennsylvania who served in World Wars I and II."

"The Parkway is to be entirely constructed from private funds obtained from the proceeds of bonds issued by the commission and paid off from tolls to be charged for cars using facilities of the Parkway."

"It is to be so planned and constructed that there will be an unobstructed view along almost all of its entire length from an elevation of from 100 feet to 2100 feet above sea level."

"Plans and specifications are to be developed under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways that department to be paid in full for its services. When the project is fully paid for through tolls it reverts to the Department of Highways as a part of that system and will operate as a free roadway. The Secretary of Highways is a member of the Commission of three."

"The unpredictable number of passenger car owners, especially in the nine northeastern states, seems to indicate that the time is now ripe for the development of this great scenic and recreational Parkway right in the center of the greatest concentration of passenger and pleasure car owners in the world—fifty million persons live within less than a day's drive of this area."

"Already, visitors from all of the states in America and many foreign countries spend their vacations in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, causing it to become the greatest mountain resort and recreational region in America."

"The development of this project not far from the Anthracite regions will during the construction period give employment to a great many men who in that particular area of the state are now unemployed; when in operation it will require a certain number of permanent employees to handle visitors."

"Nationwide publicity will be given to Pennsylvania and the Pocono Mountains once the Parkway is open for visitors. Already known as one of the greatest inland states Pennsylvania also will become known as a great tourist and recreational state."

"The immediate duty and object of investigators."

Scenic Highway For Poconos Is Nearer Reality

ESTABLISHMENT OF A Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway Commission was assured last night.

The proposed parkway would be a multi-million dollar scenic route along the Poconos' ridges. The plan has been under study more than three decades.

The State legislature authorized a commission to prosecute development of the parkway—finance it, build it and operate it. But the three-man commission was never appointed.

News of the appointment of two Monroe County men to the commission was unofficial at press time last night—but an unimpeachable source said confirmation was expected today.

The men are Frank B. Michaels, Stroudsburg banker, and R. LeRoy Dengler, Mount Pocono resort operator. As a team they have led the fight for the parkway construction since 1929.

The parkway would be a toll road financed by a bond issue. Construction would be under supervision of the State Highway Department.

After the road is paid for by tolls, the parkway would return to the State highways network as a free road.

The third member of the commission must be the secretary of State highways—E. L. Schmidt at present—as established by the legislation.

Appointments to such commissions are by Gov. John S. Fine, with confirmation by the State Senate.

The idea for the parkway came to Michaels in 1921 after a tour of the Western United States and a drive along one of the West's mountainous scenic highways.

In 1929 Dengler joined Michaels to spearhead an effort to have the same type of scenic parkway, constructed in the Poconos.

The proposal was well-received in financial circles, and won government backing under the administrations of Edward Martin and James Duff.

In 1941 Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe sponsored the "Pocono Mountains Pennsylvania Rim Parkway Act"—original name of the proposed parkway. It called for a route 60 miles long.

In 1949 Crowe introduced an amendment which provided for the present 75-mile circular route running along the crest of the Blue Ridge Mountains and around the rim of the Pocono Plateau.

The amendment also changed the name to Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway, dedicated to those who gave their lives in the nation's armed forces.

The route lies largely in Monroe County, but also touches Northampton, Carbon and Pike.

The route was explored during a four-month survey conducted in the summer of 1945 by Henry Kloes, chief location engineer for the State Highway Department under the Martin administration.

World War Two and the Korean War temporarily stymied the project. When peace came Dengler, Michaels and others renewed their efforts to get action.

There were private meetings, talks with financiers, speeches before public meetings in Pike and Monroe Counties, trips to Harrisburg, letters by the dozens in an attempt to bring about the steps leading to actual construction of the parkway.

There was contact between Fine and Dengler a month before the recent election, and there have been several since then. The governor promised he would take definite action on the parkway—and he has.

The parkway proposal has received bipartisan support in the legislature, and Gov. Fine's appointments were equally bipartisan: Michaels is a Democrat and Dengler a Republican.

The two men he named to the commission are widely known throughout the Pike-Monroe area. Michaels has been an executive officer of Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. for decades, and its president since 1934. He is a charter member of Stroudsburg Rotary Club. He is a director of a half dozen or more civic and community groups, and recently was named Man of the Year at a special community testimonial in his honor.

Dengler has been in the hotel and resort business all his life, operating Hawthorne Inn and Cottages. He is a past president of Rotary, and president of the board of Farview Hospital, Waymart. He is president of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club and a director of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

In 1934 Dengler headed a planning survey conducted in Monroe County under Works Project Administration sponsorship. The survey did a thorough study of the parkway possibilities and included a full description in its final report.

The route starts at Delaware Water Gap and winds its way up to the fire tower on the top of Mount Minsi. It moves from there along the ridge of the mountain to Wind Gap in Northampton County. The parkway then follows established highways to the Poconos above Effort Mountain.

From the point above Effort Mountain the parkway is routed along the edge of the Poconos, passing Big Pocono fire tower, Deep Lake, Crescent Lake, Bear Mountain, Pocono Manor, Mount Pocono, Seven Pines Mountain, Cresco Heights, Buck Hill Falls, Skytop, and then over an underdeveloped route past Bushkill Falls, Pike County, to Milford, the Pike County seat.

By the time the parkway is well under construction it is expected that a plan will be made for a river parkway running from Bushkill Falls to Delaware Water Gap.

The average elevation will range from 1,500 to 2,100 feet above sea level.

The route intersects every main highway in Monroe County, and is planned so that every part of the county will be within a few minutes' drive of some part of the parkway. All of the Northeastern United States will lie within a few hours' drive.

Where physically possible, said the survey report, the right-of-way is to be from 200 to 300 feet wide, with foliage and growth trimmed so that nothing will obstruct the view on the valley side of the parkway.

General landscaping of the parkway will aim at fostering the natural mountain growth of the area—laurel, rhododendron, azalea, huckleberry, with hazel, dogwood, spruce, pine, hemlock and other native plants.

At intervals public parks and recreational centers will be established.

The survey proposed restricted areas for residential purposes, too.

The parkway is designed primarily for pleasure vehicles only. It is planned to keep it free from advertising billboards and signs, and telephone and power lines are to be kept in the background.

Service stations and wayside stands would be limited, and controlled as to architecture and landscaping.

The plan is to keep from the parkway anything which would spoil the beauty of the natural scenery along the route. Forest areas through which the parkway will pass would be maintained in natural wildness.

Child From Broken Home Placed By Chest Agency

(The seventh in a series of stories based on work actually done by the member agencies of Y.O.R. Community Chest. Today's story deals with the Children's Aid Society—but it is typical of the work done by all Chest agencies as they fill a need in your community.)

By Leonard Randolph

THE TWO strangers sat in the quiet room where they had been left to talk together.

Neither of them had spoken a word since the door's closing sound had faded.

One of the strangers was a 32-year-old woman with clear hazel eyes, lips colored dark red to hide their whiteness, a thin face with high cheekbones and severely-clipped black hair.

The second stranger was a small, dark-haired girl whose slim body sat primly in the too-large chair, whose slender hands were folded in an attitude of tension across the neat, blue-green corduroy skirt.

The child's eyes stared downward at her fingers through half-closed lids. Except for the occasional swinging of her child-thin legs, catching the rubber heel of her right foot on the chair rung each time, the girl made no motion.

Only a highly perceptive person would have been able to decipher the solitude between the woman and the girl. There was little physical resemblance. The child had been told all her life how much she looked like her father.

She had not seen her father for more than a year. She could remember vaguely the outline of his face, the infrequent laughter of his voice. Now he was gone.

And the woman sitting across from her now was her mother.

At five years of age, Elaine Rankin was one of a rapidly-growing number of "homeless" children. Like most of the rest she had "lost" her home through the mutual agreement of her father and mother.

The decision had been made 18 months before. Elaine's father, Loran, and her mother, Celia, had had their last fight then.

It was little more than a fragment in Elaine's memory. But the memory was a crowded one—crammed and crushed with the constant echo of quarreling and bickering.

At first Loran and Celia had tried "separation." There was little hope that the two would ever reconcile again, but the separation eased the necessity for answering questions—for a time, at least.

Finally, Elaine's mother had applied for—and got—a divorce from Loran. Elaine had been torn apart by her loyalties to the two parents. When there was no more fighting, no more mother threatening to take her away from the father in a sudden fit of rage, the child began gradually to lose the tiny sense of affection she had once had.

With the divorce came the problem of "What to do with Elaine?" It was obvious that Celia could not work and hope to spend enough time with her daughter to raise her properly.

Loran's earnings at the industrial plant had been cut severely—the plant was on a three-day shift per week. There was one other cold, unavoidable fact: Neither Loran or Celia was emotionally stable enough to keep the child.

In desperation, Celia turned to a Community Chest agency for help. The first agency studied her problem thoroughly, helped her in the few minor ways it could and then asked her to see the Children's Aid Society agent at her Stroudsburg office.

The appointment was made. Celia kept it. In a matter of weeks, Elaine had been placed, by the agency, in a foster home—one of many in Monroe County.

The first thing the Children's Aid worker noticed about Elaine was her formal, adult attitude toward her mother. There was always a note of deference in the child's voice when addressing Celia—but she called her mother by her first name, always.

On the day Elaine was taken to her new, foster home, the worker waited a moment at the door of the room, giving the girl and her mother a chance to say goodbye.

She watched as Celia knelt slowly, her hands trembling. The woman's eyes were brimming with tears.

"Goodbye, darling," she said, and there was a tinge of self-pity in her voice, the worker thought. "Take good care of yourself. I'll see you soon."

The child's old eyes gazed solemnly at her mother's tear-streaked face for a long moment. Then she lifted her elfin hand and touched the woman's cheek gently. Like an old woman consoling a child, the social worker thought to herself.

"Goodbye, Celia," the little girl said.

As the months went by, Elaine began to learn to expect affection and kindness from the thoughtful older man and woman who were her "foster parents."

The effect was a gradual, but nonetheless, remarkable one. It is difficult business, the social worker knew, teaching a little girl to become a child after years of assumed adulthood.

Lost in a considerable maze of insecurity and unhappiness, Elaine had forsaken all the outward appearances of a child. Now she was beginning to laugh and cry and demand as a child should.

The beginning came slowly. Once the first step had been taken, Elaine's whole outlook began to change.

Finally, she came to feel genuine love for her mother. This love, however, was apparent most when Elaine was away from Celia. While playing at her foster home, the child would often "pretend" at making conversation with her mother.

But when she paid her regular visits with her mother at the Children's Aid Society visiting room, the words would not come.

This was one of those meetings.

"I've missed you very much, Elaine," the woman said.

Celia had talked with a Children's Aid official before the visit. It had become apparent, now, that she might soon be able to take the child back again.

Celia was going to be married again, she had told the worker. She and the man she was to marry had talked about Elaine for many weeks. He had come to the office with her three times to talk with the worker and there was no doubt that he would be happy to have the child as his own.

Only one real problem remained. That was the attitude Elaine had always shown toward her mother—the distant strangeness which had seemed to come between them at every meeting.

Slowly and carefully, Celia began to talk, building a feeling of security and confidence in herself, gently piecing together the love and warmth she felt in her own heart for the benefit of this child.

She talked alone for nearly half an hour. Then, suddenly, she realized that the child was looking directly at her—not dropping her eyes downward, not avoiding her mother's eyes.

"I've made myself a pretend house," the child said. She was smiling. "I have a dish set and pots and pans and I cooked supper for you last night."

Celia's throat was dry and she turned her head quickly to hide the tears she knew were coming. And all the while she could hear the sound of Elaine's voice, talking about the play "home" and how much fun she had pretending to be with her mother.

"Would you like to live with your mother again, Elaine?" Celia asked, quickly, afraid to hesitate for fear the words would stop in her throat.

The child's eyes narrowed for a moment and a thin frown appeared on her forehead.

"I'm not sure it can be arranged," Celia hurried on, "and it will take quite a bit of time. But I'm going to have a home again and I'd like very much to have you in it with me."

Elaine watched her mother intently for awhile. "Yes," she said, at last. "I'd like to live with you again."

The rest of the visit was filled with laughter and happiness. Celia could not remember getting this much joy from her child before in her lifetime.

Next time she visited her daughter, she would bring Brad along.

They would like each other, she knew. Then, later—perhaps much later—she could tell Elaine about her new home and the marriage. But that would take time.

When the visit was over, Celia watched quietly as Elaine put on her grey ski-suit and snapped the buttons in place on the straps of her hat. Then the child realized she had not zipped up her red overshoes.

As Elaine bent down to pull the zipper, Celia hurried to help her. "Here, darling," she said. "Let me do it."

The social worker standing in the doorway felt an enormous surge of satisfaction as she watched the smile on the girl's face. When the overshoe was zipped, Celia kissed her daughter firmly on the forehead.

[16 NEW BODY STYLES]

The Ford Thunderbird, the personal car that's been causing such a sensation, served as styling inspiration for the 1955 Ford Cars. Take just one look today at Ford's longer, lower, roomier dimensions—huge wrap-around windshield—rich, new color-keyed interiors—that Thunderbird look everywhere... and you'll quickly see some of the reasons why Ford is finer for 1955. Take one Test Drive and you'll want to drive it home.

Don't wait a second longer to Test Drive Ford's new, eager, Trigger-Torque Power. You'll get it in all 3 Ford Engines for '55. There's a 162-h.p. Y-block V-8 with higher (7.6 to 1) compression ratio... a still more powerful 182-h.p. Y-block Special V-8 that is teamed with Fordomatic Drive and offered in the Fairlane and Station Wagon models. And the new I-block Six is now 120-h.p. strong. All have traditional Ford economy.

Today you're bound to find your dream car among the 4 new Ford series for '55. What's more, to make your dream car come even "truer," this year Ford has new Angle-Poised Ride to cut the road-joint jar of highway travel up to 15%. Then, too, your Ford can be as automatic as you want it with all the fine-car power options to choose from. So come on in today—while the choosing's so fine.

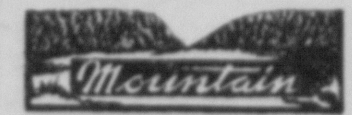

You're cordially invited to Test Drive the '55 FORD today!

Deer Season Gets Under Way In Pennsylvania Next Monday

Only Bucks May Be Killed This Year

THE HUNTING spotlight now focuses on the coming antlered deer season, starting at 7 a.m. Monday. The season ends at 5 p.m. December 11.

Shooting hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Hunting on Sunday is unlawful.

In this season legal buck will be one with two or more points to one antler or a buck that carries an antler three or more inches long without points.

There is no open season on antlerless deer this year.

Field observations here indicate the popular whitetail is about as numerous now as a year ago. Bear hunters have reported seeing large herds of deer in all sections of the Poconos.

Weather and travel conditions will have a bearing on the kill during early days of the season and the two Saturdays involved. What hunters want most is not a deep snow, but a light snow for easy travel and to provide a good background for a clear view of deer.

There is no camp limit on buck deer taken in the coming season but, whether hunting alone or with a group, no hunter may lawfully kill more than one deer in 1954.

Ownership of a current Pennsylvania hunting license entitles an archer who did not take his buck in the special October bow and arrow season to use either bow or gun to bag an antlered deer in the upcoming season.

When five or more persons hunt together, or in any way cooperate in hunting deer, the usual big game roster is required.

All automatic or semi-automatic firearms are forbidden in the taking of deer. Pump shotguns and single and double barrel varieties, firing rifled slugs or pumpkin balls, are allowed. The pump shotgun may be loaded to capacity for deer hunting. It is unlawful to use .22 or .25 rimfire cartridges for the taking of big game in this state.

Successful hunters must tag their trophy immediately after the entrails have been removed, or in any event within one hour after killing and before the carcass is transported in any manner from the place where it was killed.

Wayne Dairy Herds Ranked

NEWFOUNDLAND — Dairy herd owned by Samuel DeFrehn II, Greentown, ranked sixth in butterfat production among herds of the Wayne County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, according to an announcement by an association spokesman.

Another dairyman of nearby Sterling, Elmer McLain, finished in third place for the year ending Nov. 1.

DeFrehn's herd, which averaged 21.11 cows for the 12-month period, produced an average of 10,920 pounds of milk and 450 pounds of butterfat per cow. The herd consists of registered Holsteins and Jerseys.

The McLain herd of 21.86 registered and grade Holsteins averaged 12,556 pounds per head and produced an average of 463.8 pounds of butterfat.

Winning dairyman was Lloyd B. Douglas of Honesdale Star Route 5. He maintained an average herd of 37.69 cows, which produced an average of 13,760 pounds of milk and 521.2 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Other local farmers whose herds produced averages between 300 and 400 pounds of butterfat are Banks Brothers, Panther; Robert McLain, Moscow RD and Blasko Brothers, Moscow RD.

All local winners serve the New York City market through the Dairyman's League Cooperative, Newfoundland plant.

Mendes-France Prefers P. M. F.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP) — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France says his dignity won't be affronted if harried American newspaper headline writers use his initials, "P. M. F."

Newsmen have had trouble fitting "Mendes-France" into a one-column headline.

At the instance of the Washington Post and Times Herald headline writers, the French leader was asked last week whether he would consider it disrespectful to shorten his name to "Mendes" or "P. M. F."

In a scribbled note reproduced in the Post and Times Herald, the Premier said he preferred P. M. F.

Hunters Told To Beware Of Explosives

AN ARMY demolition expert yesterday warned hunters in the Tobyhanna State game lands to beware of live or dud high explosive shells scattered in the area.

The expert, Capt. Dunlap, of Valley Forge Hospital, led a demolition crew on a survey of the area, formerly an Army training center. He reported finding unexploded shells, some as heavy as 155 millimeter.

Hunters who find old Army shells or ammunition were warned to leave them alone, and to report their location at once to either the Signal Corps Depot or to State police.

These units will in turn notify the demolition unit at Valley Forge. A general "clean-up" of the area is scheduled shortly, the demolition expert said.

Mrs. Hildt, Tannersville, Dies At 59

MRS. WINIFRED M. HILDT, 59, of Tannersville, died at 7:15 p.m. yesterday in General Hospital.

She had been ill the past two weeks. The wife of August Hildt, Tannersville, she was born in Scranton, daughter of the late John E. and Mary Lawless, who later lived in Tobyhanna.

Mrs. Hildt was a graduate of Coolbaugh Township School in Tobyhanna and attended Marywood Seminary in Scranton.

She is survived by her husband, at home; two sisters, Mrs. John P. McFale, Tobyhanna, and Mrs. Julia Hammond, Washington, D. C.; two brothers, John E. Lawless, New York City; nephews and nieces.

Requiem mass will be said Saturday at 11 a.m. in Our Lady of Victory Church in Tannersville with Rev. John R. Grady, Richmond, Va., saying the mass.

Rosary services will be performed Friday at 8 p.m. at Dunkleberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg. Friends may call at the funeral home Friday after 7 p.m. Interment will be made in St. Ann's Cemetery, Tobyhanna.

Postoffices Here Preparing For Annual Holiday Rush

PREPARATIONS HAVE been made to handle the annual Christmas mail rush at both area postoffices with the holiday season going into full swing in early December. Their main plan of action is to urge the people to "mail early."

Stroudsburg Postmaster Fred H. Rhodes announced that over a half a million extra pieces will be handled during the rush. But he stated: "We never actually get in a hole as we have excellent facilities here to handle it."

He said he plans to hire 25 extra workers for the season doubling the regular staff. The temporary workers will be used as clerks and carriers. The mail has already increased due to Christmas advertising. The postmaster said some 150,000 pieces of advertising material weighing 27,000 pounds was handled here last week.

Norman B. Gregory, postmaster at East Stroudsburg, said the mail had increased slightly at that office. His plans for handling the rush are similar to those of last year. He will add extra help between Dec. 12 and 15 according to the needs. "You never can tell how the mail will go," remarked Gregory.

Rhodes has a three-point program designed to insure delivery of all Christmas cards and gift packages by Dec. 25. He urges business firms to mail their regular correspondence before 4 p. m. throughout the Christmas season.

"They can help more by withholding all circular and catalogue mail until after the critical period," he stated. "This will leave elbow room at the postoffice to process the tremendous volume of holiday mail we'll be handling. I'm quite sure it will exceed the all-time record of 55,000 cancellations set here in 1953," the Postmaster warned.

The Stroudsburg P. O. head asks the public to cooperate by being sure that cards include the full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

Rhodes requests that residents order stamps early and use a heavy supply of wrapping paper and strong cord on packages.

The temporary employees are being sworn in, delivery trucks overhauled and all inlets are being filled. Local people are asked to remember to mail all gift packages by Dec. 5, all Christmas cards at least a week before Christmas.

Sansenbach Dies At Home After Illness

JAMES WALTON Sansenbach, 45, died at his home at 70 Fairview Ave., East Stroudsburg, last night at 8:45. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Sansenbach was born at Pocono Lake, the son of the late Charles A. and Clara Sansenbach. He had been employed at the Line Material Co., in East Stroudsburg, and lived in the county all his life. The deceased was a member of the Evangelical and Reformed Church of Tannersville.

He is survived by two sons, Charles, at home, and James, of Easton; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Williams, of Baltimore, and Mrs. George Stack Jr., at home; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Moscow, of Swiftwater, and Mrs. Ernest Jones, of Rome, N. Y.; one brother, Elmer Shafer, of Pocono Lake; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Lantierman funeral home with Rev. William Foose officiating. Interment will be in the Pocono Lake Cemetery. Friends may pay their respects Friday night from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

LEWISBURG, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP) — William W. Remington, a former government employee convicted of perjury for denying Communist party associations, suffered serious head injuries when attacked with a sock-covered brick at the federal penitentiary here.

Neither driver was injured, police said. There was no prosecution.

Seal Sales To Finance New Machine

MONROE COUNTY Tuberculosis Society last night developed plans for financing purchase of a $6,000 X-ray machine which they will install in General Hospital for chest X-ray of every patient admitted to the institution. Financing the machine depends largely on the success of the current TB Seal and Bond sales.

A payment of $500 has already been made on the modern equipment which will take a four-by-five-inch chest X-ray picture, easily readable to detect tuberculosis or other diseases of the chest.

No such service now exists and the plan to install the machine was offered by the TB Society as a public service to the hospital and all patients who enter the institution. The hospital board accepted the proposal.

A committee will work out a formal agreement between the hospital and TB Society. The machine is deliverable in the near future.

A finance committee of TB Society consisting of Edward Hintze, Leon Koster and Mel Weiss studied financing of the machine on 90-day terms offered by the General Electric Co.

Dr. Paul Shiffer, chairman of the X-ray machine explained advantages of purchasing a used machine—which will be equipped with a new X-ray tube—over making an additional $2,500 outlay for a new machine.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming reported on the current Christmas Seal and sale campaign. She said returns for the first two days were encouraging.

Some 8,100 letters containing Christmas Seals and Bonds have been mailed to individuals and organizations all over the county.

A large portion of cash returns from the sale will be devoted to X-ray machine purchase, with the remainder devoted to the society's regular anti-tuberculosis X-ray campaigns and follow-up work.

It is hoped that food handlers and other small groups—including industries or organizations—can be X-rayed by the machine to be installed at the hospital.

Cars Collide At Intersection

BROOKDALE — Damages totaled $125 in the collision of two cars at 1:15 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of Route 209 and 115 here.

Fern Ridge State police said A. Kohr Sprengle, 44, Upper Montclair, N. J., stopped for the stop sign at the intersection but then proceeded and failed to yield the right-of-way to William C. McNeal, 65, Saylorsburg RD2, the other motorist.

Neither driver was injured, police said. There was no prosecution.

Two Regional Musicians To Make Pro Debut With Princeton Jazz Group In New York

TWO POCONO Mountains musicians will make their professional bow in New York City jazz circles this weekend.

The jazzmen are both named John—John Dengler, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dengler, Mount Pocono, and John Eaton, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton, East Stroudsburg.

Both Dengler and Eaton are members of the "Tigertown Five" jazz group at Princeton University. The combo will give a special "College Jazz" concert at Carnegie Hall Saturday at midnight.

Dengler and Eaton will also appear with the combo on the CBS-network telecast of the Perry Como show Friday at 7:45 p.m.

Sunday afternoon, for the benefit of restaurant jazz fans, the "Tigertown Five" group will be heard in a full-length informal concert at Child's Paramount in Times Square, one of the sustaining bulwarks of dixieland jazz in New York City.

Under direction of Stan Rubin, the "Tigertown Five" recently wound up a one-week stand in Columbus, Ohio. In its Carnegie Hall concert the quintet will share honors with a jazz group from Williams College called the "Spring St. Stompers."

Dengler is the only member of the group who is an alumnus of Princeton. All the others are still students, including Eaton, who is now enrolled as a sophomore.

Dengler graduated from the university in 1948. He was a member of the Triangle Club—with which Eaton now works on shows—and had his own dance band. Dengler graduated from Stroudsburg High School where he was a member of the school band. His professional jazz associations have included tours with the Pee Wee Russell and Rex Stuart bands cross-country.

Eaton graduated from East Stroudsburg High School in 1952, was also active in high school band work and in the composition of music. He was accompanist for this year's Triangle Club show in Princeton.

Dengler describes the Tigertown combo as one "dedicated to Dixieland jazz in the New Orleans tradition." The New York appearances, he says, were planned to give the public a "balance and true picture of the kind of jazz heard on college campuses these days."

Well-known locally as a trumpet player—who also fills in on almost any other instrument you can name—Dengler leads his own small jazz band at the Deer Head Inn Fridays and Saturdays where it has been billed as "The band that out-blew Hurricane Hazel."

School Club To Present Play Today

THE STROUDSBURG High School dramatic club presents an original play in three scenes at 1:30 this afternoon.

Called "The Spirit of Thanksgiving," the play deals with three different settings on the day of gratitude.

First of these, according to faculty director and adviser Anna Stem, occurs in the living room of a wealthy family. Here we find the people are "ungrateful, desiring more material things," Miss Stem said.

In the second scene, the play visits the home of a poor family. The surroundings are clean, but there are few material possessions. Yet the family is "thankful and grateful for all its meager belongings," Miss Stem said.

During each of the first two scenes a "tramp," dressed in shabby, dirty, ill-fitting clothing knocks on the door and asks for something to eat.

He is turned away at the rich home, welcomed by the poor people, according to Miss Stem's summary.

In the third scene—set in a church—the tramp again appears. This time, however, the old clothes and the shabbiness are gone. In their place are the shining garments of a radiant young girl—"The Spirit of Thanksgiving."

From this disclosure, the play moves to its climax in a sermon specially written for the holiday.

Pat Arnold will portray the "Spirit" and Peter Westbrook will be the minister in the church scene.

The high school madrigal singers, directed by Numa Snyder, will act as the church choir during the final scene, Miss Stem said.

Armed Unity Key To West's Struggle Against Russians

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

FRENCH PREMIER Mendes-France came to the United States last week under a cloud, by the weekend he had begun to shine as few visiting diplomats have in recent years, and then Monday he went into another partial eclipse.

The first big thing he did was to ally widespread fears about his sincerity in connection with the rearmament of West Germany under the Western European Union. The Russians are not going to stop it this time by offers of empty negotiations, he said.

To emphasize it, he and Secretary Dulles worked out a post-conference communiqué which, when the Russians offered on Saturday to postpone their proposed conference if the West would postpone WEU, had their negative answer all ready.

Then on Monday Mendes-France made two statements before the United Nations which sounded all right but faded quickly under close scrutiny.

He said France would be willing to take the lead for a four-power conference on European settlements in May, after WEU had been finally ratified.

And, in pointing out that WEU takes an important step toward arms limitations by providing controls for one larger group of nations, he said France would not look askance if Russia wanted to do the same thing in her sphere provided the limitations principle was the same.

After initial approval of a post-ratification parity, officials began to realize that May would be too soon.

It would put the Allies into negotiations in a fashion which they had just said they would not permit—before their new position of strength was truly established.

Ratification of Western European Union is one thing. Until implemented, it is a theoretical thing. The fact of German rearmament, which cannot even begin until after that, is another thing. It, not paper agreements, will present the Russians with a situation the Allies have always hoped would bring them to realistic negotiations instead of meetings for propaganda purposes.

A conference in May would present the Kremlin with the same thing it seeks today—an opportunity to throw new monkey wrenches before rearmament is actually a fact. The United States is prepared to start moving in arms quickly. But mobilization from scratch is another thing.

As for an Eastern European Union providing the same arms limitations as WEU, and its approval by France or any other Western countries, it wouldn't mean a thing except legalization of what already exists, an armed bloc operating under a single and, in this case, centrally located authority. Even an arms limitation treaty between two such blocs would mean even less than such treaties have meant before, because of the Communist record of breaking agreements.

Fur Trappers Open Season December 1

NEXT Wednesday, Dec. 1 fur trappers may begin setting traps for muskrats in streams and marshes of this region. The season ends at noon Feb. 1, 1955.

Daily and seasonal catches are not limited. Traps must be tagged.

The muskrat is the most abundant of the state's furbearers in all sections of the Commonwealth. Not nearly so valuable, pelt for pelt, as the beaver or mink, the rats provide fur takers with their greatest total cash return.

Authorities report the muskrat population about the same as last year.

Asks New Trial

WILLIAMSPORT, Nov. 23 (AP)—The scheduled sentencing of Bernard J. O'Brien, 32, found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the fire deaths of five of his children, was postponed yesterday when he asked for a new trial.

RILEY

Sports Editor

Football is certainly the only topic of conversation to be heard around these parts today, tomorrow and possibly Friday, at least among the men, women and children of this locality who would rather digest the grid sport than eat. Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg will put on their war paint for the 10th time tomorrow and each has obtained a sudden determination to outscore their heated rival from across the creek.

Each school mixed the war paint last night. Stroudsburg outfitted itself in the usual maroon and white while the cheerleaders sent the student body through a giant pep rally. East Stroudsburg stirred its purple and white mixture to the right degree at a big bonfire near Memorial Stadium. Both student bodies are confident that it will be their colors that shine the brightest after tomorrow's battle has become history.

Anything that has happened prior to tomorrow this season means absolutely nothing. We have used this phrase time and time again, but from our vantage point at the present time it was never truer. This is the type game that could remain a thriller right down to the wire. It is also the kind of battle that could break wide open at the seams in either team's favor. Neither is at top physical condition, but never was there more of a desire to win.

Both football camps are bursting at the seams with pride and more spirit than can be confined to mere practice. The Mountaineers and Cavaliers are anxious—eager—to hit the turf at Memorial Stadium and get the contest underway. East Stroudsburg, featuring a series winning streak for the first time, would like nothing better than to make it three straight favorable decisions over the Mountaineers. Stroudsburg on the other hand would like to finish on the long end of the final score, enabling the Mountaineers to return to their position of dominance in the "Battle of the Boroughs."

Stroudsburg had won seven straight contests in the series, several of the early ones by lopsided scores. But East Stroudsburg accounted for its initial win in 1952 and came back last season with a 16-7 nod over the Mountaineers at Gordon Giffels Field. The brand of sportsmanship in this series has been beyond reproach down through the years. But the type of hard fought football has always been of the highest caliber. There hasn't been any evidence of dirty football, as both clubs have fought hard and doggedly for every inch of ground in recent years. This is the type of football that makes the man and thrills the fan.

Another overflow crowd of spectators will be present for the contest, providing the weatherman decides to cooperate with local authorities in charge of staging the contest. All of the reserved seat tickets allowed for East Stroudsburg have been sold and only a few remain on the Stroudsburg side of State Bridge. Those who fail to obtain their reserved seat tickets today may be very sorry.

True, there will be a few general admission tickets on sale at the entrance booths tomorrow, but there's nothing like knowing that your seat is available, even if you come after the kickoff. Those waiting for general admission tickets may also have to stand in a lengthy line, which isn't the most desirable of pastimes. Blankets, pennants, colorful coats and all the grandstand trimmings will be visible tomorrow, when the neighboring boroughs send their favorite sons against each other on our newest football field.

The grandstand won't have a corner on tomorrow's color. The Varsity "E" Club has decided to lend East Stroudsburg High a hand in staging this season's gala Thanksgiving Day football game. The club membership has been working hard and has come up with some fine ideas for pre-game and halftime entertainment. Most of the innovations will be new to this series, although not new where close football rivalries have been in vogue.

One of the odd things about the entire pre-game setup this season is the fact that neither of the coaching staffs is pessimistic this year. All of the coaches from the head man right down to the number four assistant, is of the opinion that his team will come through with flying colors. In the past this feeling was in evidence. Well, there it is—the last bit of pre-battle chit-chat. All that remains now is to wish both squads the best of luck and may the better team keep and cherish the Little Brown Jug.

Stroudsburg To Invade East Stroudsburg Tomorrow

Arch Rivals Clash For 10th Time

STROUDSBURG and East Stroudsburg High Schools clash head-on in the 10th renewal of their football rivalry tomorrow at Memorial Stadium, with one of the most thrilling contests in the history of the "Battle of the Boroughs" in prospect. The kickoff is scheduled to take place at 10 a.m.

East Stroudsburg, for the first time in the history of the struggle for the "Little Brown Jug," will take a winning streak into the series, as the Cavaliers have finished on the winning end of the final count for the past two years. But Stroudsburg still holds a wide edge in the series, having won the first seven games.

The Cavaliers, playing the role of host tomorrow, this season have a record of five wins and four defeats. The Mountaineers on the other hand have won three games, tied one and lost five battles.

Both teams will be minus several players because of injuries, while others are below par for the same reason. Stroudsburg features the "T" formation and East Stroudsburg runs out of the split-T.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis, Stroudsburg, and Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg, both expect a tough battle. Each has announced a tentative starting lineup, but each quickly added that the opening array may be changed by kickoff time.

The offensive backfield will have either Bill Sommers or Dick Gray at quarterback; Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, left halfback; Gene Plaza, right halfback, and Ronnie Newbaker, fullback.

East Stroudsburg's stock rose when it was learned that Bob "Booster" Miller, veteran center, would be in uniform and probably see limited action on defense. Prior to yesterday Miller was thought to be out of the contest because of a knee injury.

The regular defensive array will find Kimler, Palmisano, Shaffer, Strouse, Pete Lorenz and Patella on the forward wall. Dick Wolslayer and Kupiszewski will back up the line. The defensive halfbacks will be Plaza and Denny Wagner, while Sommers handles the safety duties.

Kist also announced that Danny Marvin, who has been troubled by an ailing knee, will be in uniform and will share the right end duties with Bach.

Players definitely out of the contest are Captain Dick Hintze, Roger Lane and Don Deibler for Stroudsburg and Frank Lupin and Gary "Jeep" Peggman, East Stroudsburg. Hintze and Peggman have broken legs, while Lane suffered a fractured collarbone. Deibler has a dislocated shoulder and Lupin a dislocated neck.

Both coaches report their charges in good spirits and each team is anxiously looking forward to the contest. Both teams will take part in final workouts today.

East Stroudsburg held a bonfire and rally last night near Memorial Stadium, while Stroudsburg featured a "snake dance" from Court-house Square to the school where a giant pep rally was held.

Tomorrow's contest will also present added features, such as marching of the combined bands of the two schools.

Court League To Meet

A REORGANIZATIONAL meeting of the Pocono Mountains Basketball League will be held in Tannersville next Tuesday, it was announced last night by Ray Davies, circuit president.

The meeting, listed for 8 p.m., will be held at Trach's Pocono Hotel.

Davies is hopeful that eight teams will show a willingness to campaign this season. The first eight clubs to enter the league will make up the local circuit.

Banquet Tickets On Sale For 'Carter Day' Celebration

FINAL PLANS WERE completed last night for "Jimmy Carter Day" as one of the largest crowds to ever attend strictly a business meeting of the Varsity "S" Club hashed and rehashed plans for the gala Thursday, December 2 program.

Varsity "S" Club president, Sam Everitt, announced following the meeting that tickets for the banquet, to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, are now on sale. Each of the 40 members present obtained duets for sale.

Tickets may also be purchased at DeVivo's Shoe Repair Shop, Jack Mullins is ticket chairman. Everitt also announced that Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York Athletic Commission, has been extended an invitation to attend the program.

The Varsity "S" Club decided last weekend to honor the only man to ever win three lightweight championships with a parade and banquet. Carter, a resident of South Ozone Park, L. I., has adopted the Stroudsburgs as a second home.

Jimmy, who recently won back the lightweight crown from Peddy DeMarco, has trained for his last three fights at Harry's Farm, located just across the Delaware River from the Shawnee section. Tom Somers and Ed Jennings, co-chairmen of the program, reported to the group. Parade chairmen, Ed Somers and Bill Johnson, revealed that plans are progressing and that several musical units have already agreed to march in the parade, which will also feature many new 1955 automobiles.

After a short discussion the club decided to give Carter a permanent membership in the organization during a banquet presentation. It was brought to the attention of the group that the banquet was to be attended by both men and women.

Signs will be printed and banners obtained for the parade, which will feature the Stroudsburg Junior High Sports Club in the line of march.

A "Meet Jimmy Carter" gathering will be held at Gap View Inn immediately after the parade. The parade is scheduled to begin promptly at 4:30 p.m. and the banquet at 7 p.m.

Many leading figures of the boxing world have been invited to attend the banquet. Another business meeting of the Varsity "S" Club will be held at Stroudsburg's Municipal Building on Monday, at 7:30 p.m.

Last night's meeting was held at radio station WVPO.

AP Expert Likes Army Over Navy

By WILL GRIMLEY
HONOLULU, Hawaii, Nov. 23 (AP)—What better place to pick the winner of the Army-Navy football game than on the beach of Waikiki, with a coconut for a crystal ball and strumming ukeleles for inspiration.

It's a brief stop here en route to the Australian Davis Cup wars where a year ago we picked Uncle Sam to win for a 0-1 mark and a 1000 percentage.

Let's hope for better football luck:

Army over Navy: This is the best service game in years with the two teams strong and evenly matched and the Eastern championship riding on the outcome. Army, with Pete Vann's passing and the dynamic running of Tommy Bell and Bob Kysky, explodes faster and bigger than the Midshipmen. But watch out for Navy's Coach Eddie Erdelatz—he usually kicks up a surprise for his old service enemy.

Notre Dame over Southern California: We go with the Irish on the theory that the Trojans were "up" for their traditional game with UCLA last week and won't be able to reach the same psychological level.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma A&M: The Sooners complete a perfect season.

Rice over Baylor: Dickie Moegele's running should give the Owls a touchdown edge even though the strong, seasoned Bears are at home.

Georgia Tech over Georgia: Tech's sophomore backs have come of age.

Cornell over Pennsylvania (Thursday): Billy DeGraaf, Dick Meade and Dick Jackson put a jolting period behind Penn's worst season in history.

Maryland over Missouri (Thursday): The split-T pupil, Jim Tatum, teaches the teacher, Don Faurot, some tricks.

Southern Methodist over Texas Christian: Frank Eldon and Don McIlhenny give the Mustangs needed punch in a close game.

Boston College over Holy Cross: The New England feature goes to the Eagles on a more diversified attack.

The others:

THURSDAY
Colgate over Brown, Texas over Texas A&M, Wichita over Tulsa, Virginia Tech over VMI, Denver over Colorado A&M, William & Mary over Richmond, Utah over Utah State.

FRIDAY
Nebraska over Hawaii.

SATURDAY
EAST—Fordham over Villanova, SOUTH—Auburn over Alabama, Clemson over The Citadel, Miami (Fla.) over Florida, Mississippi State, Duke over North Carolina, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Tennessee over Vanderbilt, LSU over Tulane, West Virginia over Virginia.

SOUTHWEST—Arkansas over Houston, Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons.

FAR WEST—Wyoming over Arizona, San Jose State over New Mexico.

Coaches Believe Breaks To Play Important Role In Outcome Of Thanksgiving Day Battle

Both COACHES expect a tight ball game when Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools match football abilities for the 10th time tomorrow at Memorial Stadium.

Coach Jack Kist, East Stroudsburg, stated yesterday that he thought a break or two would decide the issue. "Stroudsburg's big line has us plainly worried," the popular mentor reported.

"Paul Lim is also the best passer that we have faced this year," Kist added. In conclusion the Eastburg mentor stated that this could be one of the very best games in the history of the event.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis, Stroudsburg coach, agreed with Kist that breaks could very easily be the turning point of tomorrow's game.

Last night Stulgaitis revealed that he thought line play would have a great deal to do with the final outcome of the game.

"This could be a real football game, one that will remain in doubt right up to the final whistle," the veteran coach concluded.

Lewis Hastie, faculty athletic manager at East Stroudsburg

High, reported last night that all reserved seat tickets allotted to East Stroudsburg for the annual Thanksgiving Day contest had been sold.

Hastie pointed out that general admission tickets for both adults and students will be available at the gate prior to the ball game.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High, pointed out that there are a few reserved seat tickets available at the W. Main St. school, DeVivo's Shoe Repair and Flagler's Drug Store. The tickets will be on sale at these spots until 4 p.m. today.

International League Tables Ottawa Matter

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—The International Baseball League today postponed for a week, at least, a decision on what to do about the Ottawa franchise, now held by the Kansas City Athletics of the American League.

The International will meet again on November 30 in Houston and a league spokesman said "we hope" a decision will be made then.

Holding up the matter are organizational problems still faced by the new Kansas City club, represented by an International League meeting here today by General Manager Parke Carroll, and an option on the Ottawa franchise held by Tom Gorman.

It was understood that Gorman, Ottawa hockey promoter, has until December 1 to pick up the Ottawa franchise from the Athletics for $160,000, if he wishes.

Carroll told a newsmen that his organization still had not decided whether to maintain a Triple-A affiliate. If Kansas City decides to hold the International League franchise, it must get league approval to move to another city. If Gorman fails his option expire and Kansas City sells to somebody else, such a sale and transfer also is subject to league approval.

League officials, headed by President Frank J. Shaughnessy, declined to speculate on possible new locations for the Ottawa franchise.

West Point Grid Machine Features Fast Backfield

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—Since the beginning of the football season, Army Coach Earl Blaik has maintained that the Cadet backfield was "potentially the most explosive we have had at West Point since the Davis-Blanchard days, if it can stay whole."

Blaik hasn't changed that opinion, but he's quick to point out that it hasn't stayed whole. When Pete Vann, Bob Kysky, Tommy Bell and Pat Uebel go out to face Navy in Philadelphia Saturday, it will be their first appearance as a unit since the opening game, with the exception of four minutes against Yale.

Kysky, the versatile sophomore who is Army's only good punter, suffered a shoulder separation just before half time in the opener against South Carolina and didn't return until the Yale game, November 6. On Army's second offensive play of that game, Uebel received a concussion and hasn't been back in action.

But that brief get-together demonstrated the explosive quality Blaik talks about. On Army's first play from scrimmage, Bell started on what looked like a routine dive-tackle play, kept his feet as he found a big hole and raced 64 yards for a touchdown. That

Carroll told a newsmen that his organization still had not decided whether to maintain a Triple-A affiliate. If Kansas City decides to hold the International League franchise, it must get league approval to move to another city. If Gorman fails his option expire and Kansas City sells to somebody else, such a sale and transfer also is subject to league approval.

Court Rules Against Ettore

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Albert L. Watson ruled today that former boxer Albert Ettore's private rights were not infringed upon by televised motion pictures of an 18-year-old knockout by Joe Louis.

Youngster Surprises

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 23 (AP)—Willie Pastrano, 168, 18-year-old New Orleans middleweight, scored a surprising upset tonight in the Miami Beach Auditorium when he punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over veteran Bobby Dykes, 161½, Miami.

ESSTC Ties For First Place In Teachers Football Conference

West Chester, Bloomsburg Share Lead

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers College finished in a three-way tie for first place in the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Football Conference this season according to final standings released yesterday by Merle Agnello, conference statistician.

This is the first time that ESSTC has won or shared the crown in the four-year history of the conference. Bloomsburg won in 1951, while West Chester set the pace in 1952 and 1953.

ESSTC won the most games in the conference this season, five, but under the Saylor rating system was forced to settle for a tie for the championship with West Chester and Bloomsburg, rivals that won only three contests. Each of the first place clubs suffered one loss.

Under the Saylor system the calibre of opposition is figured heavily into the final standings.

ESSTC's lone loss was a 17-13 affair at the hands of Shippensburg, while West Chester's one defeat was a 14-13 licking at the hands of the Normal Hill gridders. West Chester plastered Bloomsburg, 40-0.

The Warriors, coached by Gene Martin, finished the past campaign with an overall record of six wins and two defeats, one of the best campaigns in the history of the school. George Ockerhausen is the assistant grid mentor at ESSTC.

Bloomsburg wound up the conference season last Saturday with a 40-13 nod over Lock Haven.

Standings follow:

ESSTC	W	L	T	Reg.
West Chester	3	1	0	215
Bloomsburg	3	1	0	213
Shippensburg	3	1	0	209
Carlisle	3	1	0	175

Three Race Records Fall

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 23 (AP)—Daredevil drivers smashed three Pan American Road Race records today as Ferraris, Lincolns, Dodges, Porsches and Italian Alfa Romeos dominated their classes in the world's longest road race test of car stamina and driving skill.

Umberto Maglioli's yen for speed paid off in a new record for the pipe-smoking Italian in the international sports car division, flashing across the finish line at 134 miles an hour in his Ferrari. Maglioli won $18,000, top prize money in the fifth annual classic which killed seven drivers.

Records fell in the small sports and small American stock car classes. "Chuck" Stevenson's big stock car record set last year in a Lincoln was not broken.

Maglioli's time of 17 hours 40 minutes 26 seconds broke the 18 hours 11 minutes set last year by Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina in a Lancia. The course distance last year was 1,942 miles.

Ray Crawford of Pasadena, Calif., cashed in $17,200 by winning the big stock car division title in a Lincoln. Crawford's unofficial elapsed time was 20:49.19. Stevenson's 1953 record was 20:31.32.

Crawford's victory was the third straight in three years for the Lincoln car.

Tommy Dridale of El Paso led two other Dodges across the finish line in the small stock car class with an elapsed time of 22:07.58.

Hans Hermann of Germany came from behind to take first money in the small sports car division in the most dramatic finish.

Hermann won by a margin of only 24 seconds in elapsed time over Jerrold Juhant of Guatemala. Juhant drove a Porsche. Hermann's time was 19:32.33.

The European sports car class was dominated by Italian Alfa Romeos in the first race for this kind of car. Three Italians finished one, two, three with Gonzalo Sanies winning in 21:50.42.

Bangor Plays Host To Pen Argyl Foe

Slaters Hope To Continue Win Streak

BANGOR — The Bangor High School grid machine will be seeking its fourth straight victory over Pen Argyl High School in the traditional Turkey Day rivalry tomorrow at 2 p.m. The contest will be held here at Memorial Park.

Bangor will be without the services of three of its regulars due to injuries. Two of them are top ends, Louie Casciano and Walter ("Red") Heard. Casciano is sidelined with a broken leg which he suffered in the Northampton contest of three weeks ago. Heard is out with a fractured left hand which happened in the Hellertown game just a week and a half ago. The third injured member is Glenn Heard, fleet halfback, out with a back ailment which has plagued him for the most part of the season.

Another disservice member has returned to action this week and it is expected that he will see some service in the Thanksgiving Day classic. Art Miller, a linebacker, is the returnee. Miller was out of action due to a minute fracture of the left shoulder which was also suffered in the Northampton contest.

Coach Granville ("Granny") Evans has announced that his starting offensive lineup will include Bill Godshalk at the pivot post; Dick Marinelli and Nick Martocci at guards; Ralph ("Barney") Stenlake and Gerald Daily at the tackle posts; Anthony Ruggiero, a junior, and Arthur ("Bucky") Parsons, a senior, who has seen considerable action regularly, will take over the end spots. They will be backed up by Sammy Heard, a sophomore, and possibly Sal Lirio on offense, a converted back. In the backfield, Evans has stated he will start Dick Hess at quarterback; Bobby Finelli, fleet scabbie, and Jackie Stenlake at the halves; and Duane Miller at fullback.

On defense for the Slaters, the lineup will be the same except for Art Miller replacing Godshalk to back up the line. Dale Miller will replace Finelli and share the linebacking duties with Art Miller. Stenlake, Duane Miller and Hess will round out the secondary defense.

However, Evans plans some changes if he decides to shift to a 5-4-2 defense. Ruggiero and Marinelli will handle the end posts in this combination; Stenlake and Nick Due will be at tackle; and Gerald Daily will play the middle guard position. The outside linebackers will be Parsons and Duane Miller and the inside linebackers will be Art and Dale Miller. The tertiary will be manned by Stenlake and Hess.

Coach Harry Meryine has stated that his offensive array will depend upon the extent of a few injuries which are plaguing two of his halfplayers. Ron Guerro and Eddie Lugg will be the probable ends on both offense and defense. John Nasatka and Ed Lukanuski will be at the offensive tackle berths; Bob Guerro and Jim Mantento at the guards and Jack Kellow at center. Sammy Lobb, sophomore signal-caller, will return to appear in the offensive backfield after suffering an ankle injury in the Coplay game. Vince Abruzzese will be a fullback and Charley Stofflet at left halfback. The right halfback post will be manned by Ronnie Valletta if his injured left wrist will permit. If Valletta is incapacitated, either Marlin Smickley or Gerry Roberts will start offensively.

Dick Milheim, huge tackle, will replace Lukanuski on defense, and Lukanuski, in turn, will move to a guard spot replacing Bobby Guerro. Jim Sandercock will back up the line along with Kellow. Dick Guerry and Paul Bone will be the defensive halfbacks and Ron Shipman will handle the safety spot.

Ohio State Rates Tops In Associated Press Grid Poll

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY, ruler of the Big Ten, heads The Associated Press weekly football poll today for the second straight week. If the Boekeys can remain number one in the final poll next week, they'll become the mythical national champions for the second time since The AP rankings were inaugurated in 1936.

This week's semifinal poll showed Ohio State the number one team on the ballots of 115 of the 250 sports writers and broadcasters participating.

On the basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and on down, Ohio State rolled up 2,229 points, just 97 more than for UCLA, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference. UCLA received 85 first place votes and 2,162 points. A week ago Coach Woodrow Hayes' Bucks topped the Uclans by the slim margin of only seven points.

A third major undefeated and untied team, Oklahoma, drew the number three spot with 31 first place ballots and 1,935 points. After Oklahoma came Notre Dame, Army, Navy, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Baylor and Maryland to round out the top 10.

The second ten: Miami, Fla., West Virginia, Arkansas, Michigan, Auburn, Virginia Tech, Southern California, Kentucky, Penn State and (tie) Duke and Minnesota.

Andrews In Ring Test

CHICAGO, Nov. 23 (AP)—Lanky, hard-punching Paul Andrews of Buffalo, N. Y., tabbed a "sleeper" threat to heavyweight champion "Rocky" Marciano, tomorrow night gets measured for class against former light heavyweight champion Joey Maxim.

Maxim ranged a 2-1 underdog in wake of reports he appeared sluggish in training for the 10-round match at the Chicago Stadium which will be televised nationally at 10 p.m. EST.

Andrews, 24, who has flattened 19 opponents in winning 29 of 32 starts, currently is ranked third behind the number two Maxim among contenders for Archie Moore's light heavy crown.

Marciano and his manager, Al Weill, are reported interested enough in Andrews' potentialities as a heavyweight menace to view tomorrow night's proceedings from ringside.

Whether the 32-year-old Maxim has faded enough to be just a trial horse will be determined against the up-and-coming Andrews, who trains at Harry's Farm, Columbia, N. J.

Orioles Obtain Maxwell

BOSTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox today sold outfielder Charley Maxwell to the Baltimore Orioles.

Maxwell, who bats left-handed, hit .220 last year in 73 games. He is 27 years old and comes from Paw Paw, Mich.

Maxwell had been slated to go to the Orioles last July 29 when Sam Mele was sent from Baltimore to the Red Sox for the waiver price.

However, Maxwell was then on waivers and Baltimore could not get him. The waiver is not in effect now. The Orioles announced they paid an undisclosed amount of cash for the outfielder.

Football Tickets On Sale Today

BANGOR—A small number of reserved seat tickets still remaining for tomorrow's Bangor-Pen Argyl football game will be sold at Bangor High school today from 7 to 9 p.m.

Only a very few tickets remain and they will be sold in Room 115 on a "first come, first served" basis.

Richardson Stops Davis

HOLYOKE, Mass., Nov. 23 (AP)—Jerome Richardson, 166, New York, knocked over Johnny Davis, 138½, in the second round of a scheduled eight tonight at Valley Arena.

Harris Wins Decision

DETROIT, Nov. 23 (AP)—Duke Harris, 146½, Detroit, won a unanimous decision tonight over Tommy Maddox, 146½, Chicago, in an eight-round welterweight fight at the Motor City Arena.

CAPTAINS—East Stroudsburg High School will feature four captains in Thursday's annual Thanksgiving Day grid struggle with Stroudsburg at Memorial Stadium, two old and a pair of new leaders. Mike Palmisano (59) and Bob "Red" Kupiszewski (60), co-captains of this year's squad are shown above congratulating Jim Kimler (58) and Gene Plaza (47), elected co-leaders of next season's band of Cavaliers yesterday. (Staff Photo by Riley)

Cavaliers Elect New Co-Captains

GENE PLAZA and Jim Kimler yesterday were elected co-captains of the 1955 football team at East Stroudsburg High School and will share leadership with this year's co-captains in tomorrow's football tussle with Stroudsburg High.

The election took place prior to yesterday's practice session, at which time Plaza and Kimler, both two-year veterans, were elected by a near unanimous margin.

Both are academic students and each will return for another campaign next year.

Plaza is a hard running right halfback and Kimler handles the left end duties for the purple and white clad Cavaliers.

Kimler and Plaza will join forces with Bob "Red" Kupiszewski and Mike Palmisano to lead the Cavaliers against Stroudsburg at Memorial Field today.

Fry Wins Grid Contest

ART FRY, 995 Wallace St., Stroudsburg, won himself first-place money of $10 in The Daily Record football contest for the week ending November 20, by correctly naming 22 victorious teams on the 24-game list. Fry was fooled only by the victory of Harvard over Yale and LSU over Arkansas.

Five contestants tied for second place, with 20 correct predictions, and they will share second-place money of five dollars.

In this group are Pat Bolcar, 15 Fetherman St., and Arvet Chambers Jr., 65 N. Third St., Stroudsburg; Frederick Whitman, 129 N. Courtland St., and Chester Kupiszewski, 196 Grove St., East Stroudsburg, and Bob Hoffman, Marshalls Creek.

The contest ends for the season with the games to be played this week.

Wrigley Sees Baseball Shift

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23 (AP)—Major league baseball is coming to Los Angeles and probably San Francisco "awful fast," President Phil K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs was quoted as saying today. He declined to predict which league — American or National — would expand to the West Coast.

In a copyrighted story by baseball writer John B. Olds from New York, the Herald-Express today quoted Wrigley: "Major league baseball can no longer ignore the two top cities on the outside."

Asked if the shift would come within two years, Wrigley replied, according to the story, "Oh, much less. It's coming awful fast."

Recreation Loop Bowls

HARMON'S Recreation Bowling League will roll on its home alleys today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows: Alleys one and two—Ann's Eagle Valley vs. Koren's.

Alleys three and four—Babe's Service Station vs. FTWP.

Alleys five and six—Nicholas Auto Parts vs. Mt. Tom Inn.

Pennsylvanians Join Stars

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 23 (AP)—Three Pennsylvanians appear on the first team of the 1954 All-Southern Conference selections announced today.

West Virginia University placed five on the first team, selected by vote of conference coaches, sports writers and staff writers of The Associated Press.

The three Pennsylvanians on the top team: center, "Chick" Donaldson, WVU, from Jeannette; backs, John Popson, Furman, from Swoyersville, and Joe Marconi, WVU, from Fredericktown. Donaldson didn't play high school football because he was too small, weighing only 118 pounds.

Boydston Wins Line Laurels

MAX BOYDSTON, who has been playing a terrific game at end for Oklahoma all through an all-winning season, turned in a peak performance last Saturday against Nebraska, crowded the backs out of the headlines and earned the designation as Associated Press Linebacker of the Week.

Boydston is the second Oklahoma player and the fourth end to earn this honor during the current college season. Oklahoma center Kurt Burris was named Linebacker of the Week in October. The ends who have stood out at this easily-observed position were Pittsburgh's Fred Glatz, Navy's Ron Beagle and Michigan's Ron Kramer.

Another lineman singled out for special attention was Frank Mincevich, South Carolina's huge, powerful guard.

Michigan's Kramer again appeared on the list of nominees along with ends Bob Cochran of Harvard, Jim Pyburn of Auburn, Larry Fones of William and Mary and Boydston's running mate, Carl Allison.

Others named were Hugh Pitts, Texas Christian center, guards Dan Miller of Baylor and Bill Mings of Harvard and tackles Dick Hillinski of Ohio State and Eddie Rayburn of Rice.

Back Dickie Beard, Virginia Tech, from Cumberland, Md., made the first team. He leads the conference in rushing, can pass, punt and kick extra points.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 6. If the number is less than 6 add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Presbytery Names First Executive

THE PRESBYTERY of Lehigh elected Rev. Gorman Roof its first Presbytery executive at the November meeting at Hazleton yesterday. The group also announced a budget proposal of $10,634 for 1955.

Rev. Roof, who is now pastor at the Catawauque church, will hold the important three-year job as well as being a stated clerk. He begins in office January 1 and will have headquarters at Camp Brahm in Shyversville.

Some 50 churches, totaling 13,457 members from this section of the state, make up the Presbytery. Thirty-seven churches were represented at the big meeting with 31 ministers on hand. Each was accompanied by an elder.

Eleven vacancies exist in Presbytery churches. Five others were recently filled by stated supply ministers.

The meeting also saw the election of a layman as moderator for the first time in many years. Col. George R. Hedge of Easton will hold that post. Dr. Walter Eastwood of Allentown is the retiring moderator.

Rev. John Bollier of Stroudsburg was appointed to the stewardship and promotion post and also for Christian education. Stroudsburg Attorney Arlington Williams was also named for the Christian Education committee and will handle judicial business.

Rev. John Sinclair of Stroudsburg was selected on the committee for sessional records as was George Hauser of Delaware Water Gap.

Mrs. Merrill Tate, president of the Presbytery, reported on the national meeting at Purdue University in Indiana. This was attended by 6,000 Presbyterians.

The area ministers and elders attending the meeting at Hazleton were: Rev. Bollier, Rev. Sinclair, Rev. Luther Markin, of Delaware Water Gap, Rev. Frank Winger of East Stroudsburg, and Rev. David Newquist of Shawnee.

Kurt Wimer To Speak On Israel

KURT WIMER of the Department of Social Studies at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will speak Sunday at 1:15 p.m. over WVPO on the subject "Israel and the Near East." Mr. Wimer is the seventh speaker on the series of faculty radio talks being presented by WVPO in cooperation with the college.

Mr. Wimer has for years been making a study of the political and social problems centering in Palestine. In his talk Sunday he proposes to clarify some of the issues involving Jews and Arabs in bitter conflict.

Mrs. J. Wallingford
Ph. Sibg. 69131

MR. AND MRS. J. A. Wallingford, daughter Sue, returned from an eight-day vacation trip which took them to New Orleans and then up the coast of Florida, home. They spent a night with Mr. and Mrs. George Prosser at Selma, Alabama, on their way down.

Mr. and Mrs. Avon Paul, children Zona and Lowell, of Mechanicsburg, were Sunday dinner guests at the Herman Paul home.

Mrs. William Check of Bethlehem, is spending some time here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rustine. She recently returned from Washington where she spent some time with her husband before he left for Korea.

The Em Dee Club held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Rustine on Saturday night. Routine business was in order and it was decided to fix a sunshine basket for Arthur Koerner, a polo victim at St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem. The following members were present, Carrie Miller, Abbie Paul, Marie Paul, Elsie Wallingford, Cora Warner, Hazel Keiper, Jean Gerstlaue, Marjorie Paul, Leola Wallingford, Margaret Butz, Evelyn Wallingford, and the host Mary Rustine. Two visitors, Nita Butz and Jean Check, were also present. Leola Wallingford remembered the birthday bank and Margaret Butz was awarded the door prize.

Cherry Valley Man's Mother Dies At 83

FUNERAL services for Mrs. Leola Tucker de Otte, widow of Rear Admiral D. F. A. de Otte, U. S. C. G. and mother of Donald F. de Otte, of Cherry Valley, were held Monday in the chapel of Arlington National Cemetery, Washington.

Mrs. de Otte died last Thursday in her home, 27 Washington Square North, New York City at the age of 83. She was a frequent visitor at the home of her son here.

She was a sister of the late Judge Charles Cowles Tucker of Washington and of the late Judge Tucker of San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. de Otte organized in 1924 the League of Coast Guard Women, now Coast Guard Welfare, and was its first vice president.

A daughter, Mrs. Lela Surrey, also survives.

Butz To Attend Capital Meeting

FLOYD BUTZ, Monroe County register of wills, will attend a one-day meeting of the executive and legislative committee of the Registrars Association of Pennsylvania in Harrisburg Monday.

Judge Rhodes On Program For Dinner

PRESIDENT JUDGE Chester H. Rhodes, of Stroudsburg, will be among the speakers at a $25-a-plate Democratic victory celebration at Convention Hall in Philadelphia Dec. 6. Governor-elect George H. Leader will be the leading speaker at the program which will be attended by an estimated 5,000 Democrats representing 14 eastern Pennsylvania counties.

Monroe, Pike and Wayne Counties will have members at the affair. Other Democrats will be on hand from the following counties: Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Lackawanna, Northampton, Wyoming, Luzerne, Susquehanna. Many Philadelphians will also participate.

Other speakers will include Roy E. Furman, lieutenant-governor elect; Genevieve Blatt, elected secretary of internal affairs; and Judge F. Clair Ross. Judges Rhodes and Ross were elected to new terms on the State Superior Court.

Similar dinners are being planned for Harrisburg and Pittsburgh.

The word "bullet" derives from the Latin "ballista," meaning "little ball," referring to the black and white balls used in Roman elections.

Harry Edwards Addresses Boys At High School

HARRY EDWARDS, a 1951 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, spoke to senior boys at that school yesterday afternoon.

Edwards is now a student at The Citadel, a military college at Charleston, S. C. He discussed the values of a military college curriculum and the training it offers in other fields.

His appearance is part of the continuing guidance program offered by the school under sponsorship of Ralph Burrows, adviser for the boys, and Mrs. Martha Martin, girls' adviser.

School Dismissal Times Announced

A DISMISSAL problem for the Thanksgiving vacation has been ironed out for the Stroud Township Elementary Schools, it was reported last night by Rex Hardin, the supervising principal.

Clearview School will let out at 2 p.m. enabling all children to be home by 3. Analomink concludes classes at 12:30.

Let Us Bow Our Heads in THANKS...

In the spirit of the first Thanksgiving, let us give thanks to the Creator for all the blessings we have received . . . both as individuals and as Americans . . . a free people, living without fear in a free country. Like the Pilgrim Fathers, let us humbly acknowledge our debt to Divine Providence for all that we are and may hope to become. Like them, let us bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to the Giver of "every good and perfect gift."
